which along with their past history and how much more comfortable Sasaki is with Kyon

It's Autumn and North High and nearby Kouyouen Academy are holding a joint cultural festival. Ryoko has black-mailed Kyon into joining the organization committee, along with Yuki (little doubt coerced by Ryoko). The Kouyouen committee members are Haruhi, Koizumi and a gal named Sasaki, who just so happened to be a close friend of Kyon in middle school.

Haruhi desires to get a band together to perform during the festival (a mere month before!) to which Yuki and Kyon feel deep reluctance in joining. Kyon and Sasaki's friendship appears to rekindle, which along with their past history and how much more comfortable Sasaki is with Kyon, poor Yuki begins to highly question her position as Kyon's friend.

Also, two original "The Melancholy of Haruhi Suzumiya" characters, Taniguchi and Kunikida are also part of this part of the story line, with Taniguchi meeting and becoming interested in a Kouyouen student named Kuyou.

This has become one of my most favorite books of the "Disappearance of Nagato Yuki chan" series, and as I've come to find out an anime TV show of this series is being made and hopefully to be released on video here in the U.S. in the future, this volume 6 played out to me as a nicely written TV episode. One side note to fans of the original Haruhi TV series, Yuki makes an amusing comment tied to an infamous event of TV season 2 regarding a number of episodes that felt akin to the movie Groundhog day. It's pretty funny. Oh, and Ryoko? You might want to chill a bit on the Stew there, I think poor Yuki would like to have something else now and then.

Volume 6 is a definitely a recommended volume in the series, and a personal favorite. Thanks for reading!

Fun, funny, and full of feels

By Christian D.

Different than the original Haruhi story line and definitely aimed more at those who preferred Yuki to Haruhi as Kyon's love interest. This has been my second favorite volume of this spin-off and I'm hoping production of it will speed up with the upcoming release of the anime because it's too good to be releasing this slowly!
